The 2027 NADEC Annual Export Conference, held in person at the Le Méridien Washington, D.C., will convene America's leading exporters, corporate practitioners, trade service providers, trade promotion agencies, and senior U.S. and international government officials to advance a shared goal: strengthening the voice, resilience, and global competitiveness of the American exporter. As trade policies evolve and new opportunities emerge, attendees will gain direct access to the experts, decision-makers, and resources shaping the future of international commerce. For organizations committed to advancing America's export future, this conference is a must-attend opportunity to gain visibility, build influential relationships, and help shape the policies and solutions that drive U.S. export success.
